History

Situated in the City of Lisburn at Lagan Valley Island, Lighters Restaurant is named after the Lighter Men and Haulers who worked along the Lagan River.

"If you had been along the broadwater at half past four in the morning, you would have heard them coming, whistling and singing and driving the horse. They were rough but healthy and seemed to enjoy life, they were a fine bunch of men."

We are sure that the Lighter men would love to sit in this fine setting, to eat and drink, while recalling the tales of the day.

We hope you enjoy it too!
